

WriterLink.org

WRITER QUESTIONS

Some questions to discuss as a group, to help you learn more about each other.

Do you have a favourite novel?

What genres do you like to write?

How long have you been writing?

What do you think is your strength as a writer?

Would you like to be an indie author, or would you prefer to find an agent and take the traditional publishing route?

What do you find the most difficult thing about writing?

What was the last piece of writing you worked on?

Which other writers have a style similar to your own?

Do you find it easy to come up with novel or story titles?

What's the best time of the day for writing?

What motivates you to write?

What's the first thing you wrote that wasn't a school writing project?

Do you have a favourite novel character?

What's your greatest strength as a writer?

What's your biggest weakness as a writer?

Where are you most likely to set your stories, future, past, or present?

Do you prefer to write first person, or third person narrative? 'I said', or 'she said'?

Do you write a journal or diary?

Would you consider writing in a team?

Who is your favourite novel character?

If you could have created any work of fiction which book would you like to have written?

What is your goal as a writer?

Have you ever been published?

WriterLink.org – Writing groups and courses

StoryPlanner.com – Plan a better story

Have you ever written anything that makes you proud?

Where do you usually write?

When do you find the best time to write?

Do you use any writing tools or software?

Have any writing courses or books helped you with your writing?

Do you have any writing tips to share with other writers?

What most inspires you to write?

How long have you been writing?

What are character qualities writer's need?